

Polis – The Jerusalem Institute of Languages and Humanities

COURSE
Greek Lunch I
ACADEMIC YEAR	SEMESTER
2021-2022	Fall
TEACHING HOURS
30 academic hours (1 ac. h. = 45 min.)
INSTRUCTOR
Tatiana Marvina
PREREQUISITES
Completion of Greek I and II. The course is intended for first-year Greek students. Please contact your advisor or the instructor if you are unsure if you qualify for the course.
OBJECTIVE
To promote conversation in Greek in a more informal environment, as well as to introduce the students to everyday objects, vocabulary and expressions for a variety of topics.
METHODOLOGY
The class will be in full Greek immersion. It will primarily consist of conversation, with some TPR, reading, and other elements of the Polis method. Students, as leaders, will present topics of their choice and lead their peers in discussions or activities throughout the semester.
MODE OF ASSESSMENT
Each student will lead at least one lunch each semester. Students will be evaluated on their performance in leading the lunch, and on their level of participation (including attendance) in the lunches in general.
PROGRAM
The class will be held 2 days per week, Monday and Wednesday 1-1:45.
BIBLIOGRAPHY
Material to be provided during the sessions.
